

2017 Letterpress Printing & Fine Press Publishing Seminar for Emerging Writers

The Center for Book Arts invites applications for our Letterpress Printing & Fine Press Publishing Seminar for Emerging Writers. The next session of this workshop will take place in the Fall of 2017: October 25-29, 2017. The seminar is tuition free for participants and includes the cost of materials. Those selected must attend the entire five-day workshop.

Participants will hear lectures from various professionals in the field, including printers, fine press publishers, book artists, and dealers, to get a practical overview of letterpress printing and small press publishing. They will learn the basics of letterpress printing, both traditional typesetting and options with new technology, by collaboratively printing a small edition of broadsides or other projects. This workshop is most suitable for those with little to no previous letterpress experience.

Each seminar will be offered to a maximum of eight students. Writers from culturally diverse backgrounds are especially encouraged to apply. Finalists may be interviewed or asked to provide supplemental information to their applications.

Applications will not be accepted from students enrolled in undergraduate or graduate degree programs during the program year (September 2017-May 2018.)

Application Postmark Deadline is September 30, 2017.

NOTE: Applicants must be 18 years or older.

APPLICATION GUIDELINES:

- 1) Three copies of the completed application form, filled out completely, signed and dated.
- 2) Three copies of a five-page manuscript. You may submit prose, poetry, nonfiction or any other genre.
 - Manuscripts should be bound with a simple spring clip.
 - A title page should list the title of the manuscript title, table of contents (as needed),
 - The author's name, address, telephone number(s) and email address.
 - Manuscripts will not be returned.
- 3) Three copies of a resume, including recent publications, if any. (Two pages max.)
- 4) $20 application fee

The Letterpress Publishing Seminar for Emerging Writers is made possible with public funds from the New York State Council on the Arts, a state agency.
